

Human Needs To Be First

Administrator of Relief Foley in Outline of Aims At Conference

By Larry Hall
KANSAS CITY, July 25—(P)—“Never again!”

That was the keynote to today of Missouri river basin flood meeting, called to consider all phases of the nation's costliest flood which struck Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Federal, state and community leaders, industrialists and civic leaders were here for the meeting, to plan rehabilitation and to press for action on flood control measures.

“It is possible to stop these floods,” said Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of the army engineers. “We do have a comprehensive plan x x x for this bread basket of the nation.”

He described the plan as one including flood control, soil conservation, irrigation, power and recreation. He said soil conservation is definitely a part of the program.

Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, head of the Missouri Basin States committee, told the meeting that only 25 per cent of the Pick-Sloan plan for control of water in the basin was complete.

Enumerates Four Things
General Pick said four things must be done to stop floods in the lower Missouri valley. He listed them as:

1—Reservoirs and local flood protection on the Kansas rivers;
2—On the Grand river in Missouri;

3—On the Marais des Cygnes in Kansas;

4—Agricultural levees on both sides of the Missouri river from Kansas City to the mouth.

He estimated the total flood damage in Kansas and Missouri amounted to $990,000,000 and said the data is not yet complete. In a previous estimate the army engineers placed the loss at $875,000,000.

Of the total, General Pick said, the Kansas loss was $813,000,000 and the Missouri damage $177,000,000.

Two governors attending the meeting cited the need for basin-wide unity in tackling the problem.

“This is a national problem,” Gov. Edward Arn of Kansas told the meeting. “A flood is no respecter of state lines.”

Gov. Sigvard Anderson of South Dakota, added:

“We’re all a part of the basin. We have a job to do and we must join together and work toward the end that there will be no repetition of this disaster.”

“Human needs must come first,” was the word brought here from Washington by Raymond F. Foley, named coordinator of activities and administrator of a $25,000,000 federal relief fund.

In terms of urgency the prevention of human suffering and privation and the restoration of homes to homes and employment comes first,” Foley told the Missouri river basin states flood conference.

“President Truman personally feels this, and his parting admonition to me x x x was not for a moment to lose sight of human needs and problems of the people directly affected in the flood.”

The meeting was scheduled for the little theatre in the Municipal auditorium, but the 600 seats soon proved inadequate. The meeting was then moved to the music hall, which seats 2,500.

On the program were other federal officials. During the day the meeting will be divided into sectional sessions, devoted to various phases of recovery from the nation's costliest flood.

Damage Over Billion
The damage from the flood waters in the three states has been estimated at more than $1,000,000,000.

This disaster,” Foley said, “is also a disaster to the nation and your recovery is of vital national concern.”

One of the first jobs, he said, will be to get the displaced people back into houses and out of (Please turn to Page 6, Column 2)

Raise ‘Gas’ Tax In Illinois
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 25—(P)—Gov. Stevenson today signed into law a bill raising the state gasoline tax from the present three cents a gallon to four cents Aug. 1 and to five cents Jan. 1, 1953.

Plan Transfer Of Air Command
WASHINGTON, July 25—(P)—Plans to move Continental Air Command headquarters from Mitchell Field, N. Y., to Grandview, Mo., were disclosed by the air force today.

The announcement was made through Senator Kem (R-Mo). The transfer would be made in 1953.

Kroencke Band Concert Thursday

The following program will be presented by Kroencke's concert band at Liberty park Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock:

S. I. B. A. March by R. B. Hall; Dixie Darling Fox Trot by Percy Wenrich; Wedding of the Winds Waltz by John T. Hall; Ragged Rose, trombones' delight, by E. L. King; Melody A-La-King selection by K. L. King; The Thunder March by J. P. Sousa; The Marines' Hymn (official song U. S. Marines); Tennessee Waltz by Red Stewart; The Best Loved Southern Melodies by Al Hays; Beer Barrel Polka by W. A. Tinnim; The Man of the Hour March by J. H. Wood; Star Spangled Banner by Key.

In case of rain on this night the concert will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Minister is GOP Nominee For Mayor

Dr. Daniel A. Poling Chosen by GOP In Philadelphia

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, July 25—(P)—The Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling was chosen Republican candidate for mayor of Philadelphia today, but his easy victory was less of a surprise in the Pennsylvania primary than the nomination by Democrats of Michael A. Musmanno for the state supreme court.

Fighting a lone-wolf battle against the Democratic organization, the 55-year-old Musmanno, judge at the war crimes trial at Nuernberg, upset Justice Grover C. Laddner, 65, who had the backing of nearly all the state's Democratic leaders.

Musmanno, a Pittsburgh judge, had also achieved national prominence by his efforts to jail western Pennsylvania Communists.

Laddner, however, said he would have “no comment until all the returns are in.”

The result of the supreme court contest, in which nomination meant election, drew attention from the GOP mayoralty contest in Philadelphia, which had been billed as the key contest in Tuesday's primary.

Dr. Poling, 66-year-old Baptist minister and one time head of the Christian Endeavor movement in the United States, scored a lopsided victory over Walter P. Miller, 49, paper box manufacturer, in the Republican mayoralty contest.

Woman For Congress
A woman—and a grandmother at that—won the only congressional seat at stake in the election. Mrs. Vera Buchanan of McKeesport, 48-year-old widow of Rep. Frank Buchanan (D-Pa) defeated Republican Clifford W. Flegal, 30, the Republican nominee, in the 33rd district for the seat formerly held by her husband. Mrs. Buchanan's election raises the number of women in Congress to 11, two more than in any previous Congress.

At 10:30 a. m. (EST) these were the returns on the three key contests:

For Democratic supreme court: With 7,831 of the state's 8,412 precincts counted, Musmanno, 293,718; Laddner, 238,037.

For the 33rd Congressional District seat: With 180 of the 227 precincts counted: Mrs. Buchanan, 175,117; Miller, 32,010.

Joseph S. Clark, Jr., Philadelphia city controller, was an overwhelming winner over Joseph Sharfins, former city solicitor, in the Democratic mayoralty primary.

Both Clark and Dr. Poling had been endorsed by their respective party organizations.

But the real surprise was in the Musmanno-Laddner battle.

Emergency Funds in Relief
JEFFERSON CITY, July 25—(P)—A total of $6,600 of federal emergency funds has been allocated to four Missouri cities to help in cleaning and repairing flood damage.

This was announced today by Gov. Forrest Smith.

The money will go to Jefferson City, North Kansas City, Cape Girardeau and Hardin. The projects are the first approved under the federal emergency flood relief program.

Jefferson City will receive $2,430 to be used as follows: emergency sewer repairs $750, emergency insect control $1,000, airport repairs and cleanup $700.

The Cape Girardeau allocation is $3,250 including $1,000 for insect control, $800 for debris removal, $700 for street repairs and $750 for airport runway repairs.

North Kansas City will get $480 for rodent control and Hardin will receive $420 for insect control.

The funds are to be used for labor and materials. The cities will be reimbursed when certified payrolls and material invoices are sent to the governor.

Missourian Killed As Autos Collide
PRESQUE ISLE, Me., July 25—(P)—A midnight collision of two automobiles killed an Air Force sergeant and a Presque Isle resident. Three other persons were injured.

The dead were identified as Sgt. Paul E. Melton, 25, of Deering, Mo., and Kenneth McLaughlin, 44, of Presque Isle.

Acheson in A Warning On Letdown

‘War or Surrender’ Choice if ‘Free World Relaxes’

DETROIT, July 25—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson declared last night if the free world relaxes and fails to build up defenses against Russian Communism, it will face only two choices—“war or surrender.”

It will take “several years” more of stepped-up defense building to erect an adequate barrier against Communism's nine-million man armed forces, Acheson said in an address here.

There's No Easy Way
“The prospect may be hard and long. It may mean many more sacrifices for us, more shortages, higher taxes. But there is no easier way through the dangers of the present.”

President Truman's foreign policy chief declared the aim of the allied powers must be to convince Soviet Russia “that no one power is going to dominate this world and that it would be foolhardy for any power to try to do so.”

The Soviet rulers, he asserted, are sharply alert for any sign of weakness on the side of the free nations. He warned against falling into a “peace trap” by relaxing defense efforts because of any improvement in the situation in Korea.

Armistice Won't Change Things
“Whether or not an armistice results from the talks in Korea,” he said “the fundamental job ahead of us will not change.”

The threat we face remains the same. The world has never known a more ruthless or more powerful challenge to the independence of nations and the freedom of man.”

The occasion of Acheson's address is the 250th anniversary of the founding of the city of Detroit.

At a sharply split party meeting, a majority of House Republicans present agreed today to support a plan aimed at striking Secretary of State Acheson off the federal payroll.

The decision to pursue the “get Acheson” drive through the medium of the State Department appropriation bill was taken by a standing vote of 71 to 33.

More than 90 Republicans either did not attend or refrained from voting.

The majority approved a motion to support an amendment to the State Department money bill.

The amendment, as drafted by Rep. Phillips (R-Calif.), does not designate Acheson by name. It specifies that no money in the appropriation bill can be used for salaries of department heads who, in the five years prior to appointment, were members of professional firms that did business with a foreign government.

Since funds for the Justice and Commerce Departments are included in the omnibus money bill with the State Department, the amendment would apply not only to Acheson but also to Attorney General McGrath and Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Phillips was not immediately available for an explanation of the “submitted or resubmitted” phraseology. But he said earlier that the amendment probably would provide that in case of doubt the name of such a department head could be resubmitted for Senate consideration.

Since Acheson already has been confirmed by the Senate, the only way Congress could remove him from office would be to impeach him. It can hold up his pay but that wouldn't throw him out of office.

The decision of the GOP conference is not binding on the members. Individuals still can vote the way they feel.

But refusal of so many of them to support the amendment made it doubtful that the “get Acheson” drive would succeed unless it gained heavy Democratic support. Democratic leaders were confident they could beat it.

Scalded By Heated Backwater
ST. LOUIS, July 25—(P)—Arthur McGovern, 65, city water department employee, was scalded yesterday when he fell into a trench filled with scalding backwater from the Mississippi river.

The water had been heated almost to the boiling point by steam pipes in the trench.

Child Fatally Injured In A Fall
ST. LOUIS, July 25—(P)—Five-year-old Carolyn Jean Krumm of San Jose, Calif., was injured fatally last night when she fell 22 feet from a second-story window.

She and her mother, Mrs. Marilyn Krumm, were visiting the child's great-grandmother, Mrs. Rodell Stanley, when the girl tumbled to a concrete walk.

Little damage was reported on the Illinois side of the river. The loss here was estimated at $1,000,000 and that at St. Louis at $4,000,000.

Health officials in St. Louis planned to spray flooded waterfront areas which are breeding places for insects.

Backed up sewers and high water in basements will leave behind filth and debris which constitute a health hazard.

The St. Louis Flood control association authorized three members to represent the group at congressional hearings which will be sought on behalf of a federal levee and pressurized sewer project for the city.

Highway and rail transportation is getting back to normal in Missouri but the Frisco railroad does not expect to resume service from St. Louis to Memphis for at least a week.

The Katy railroad announced that the disastrous floods cost it more than $2,000,000—$500,000 in physical damage to property and $1,500,000 in lost revenue.

V.A. Office Be Open To Midnight Tonight
The local Veterans' Administration office will be open until midnight tonight to accept applications for education and training, since July 25, 1951 is the last time veterans can apply.

Report on Income Of Physicians

WASHINGTON, July 25—(P)—Physicians in private practice in this country in 1949 had average net income before taxes of $11,038, and those in big cities didn't make as much as those in medium size communities.

These findings were reported yesterday, on the basis of a mail survey of 55,000 physicians, by the department of commerce and the American Medical association. The association, which conducted the study jointly with the department, called the study the best ever made of income in the profession. The $11,038 for the entire profession included salaried and independent physicians, but not interns, resident physicians and teachers.

Other findings: Neurologists had the highest net average income, $28,628; 13 per cent of those in private practice had net incomes under $5,000 and eight per cent earned more than $25,000 net before taxes.

Split Over Method to ‘Get Acheson’

Over 90 Leaders in GOP Not at Session And Did Not Vote

States Boyle Paid $8,000 by Printing Firm

Chairman States ‘Fees’ Had ‘Nothing To Do in Loans’

ST. LOUIS, July 25—(P)—The Post-Dispatch said today it had learned William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National committee, was paid $8,000 by a printing firm here after it received a $565,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The newspaper, in a story by Theodore C. Link, said payments to Boyle from the American Lithoform Corp., began in 1949 soon after an RFC loan to it had been approved.

The Post-Dispatch also reported that the firm's transactions with Boyle received payments of $500 a month and that payments of $1,000 a month also were made to Finnegan, a close friend of Boyle's.

The Post-Dispatch said Boyle, in his office in Washington told it he had received “some legal fees” from American Lithoform but added that his work had “nothing to do with RFC loans.” Finnegan resigned only recently as collector of revenue for the eastern half of Missouri. The grand jury began investigating Boyle's affairs today.

Boyle was quoted by the Post-Dispatch as saying he was unable to estimate how much in fees he had received from the printing firm but that he had been retained for “about two and a half months in 1949.”

“In May 1949,” he was quoted by the newspaper, “I decided to discontinue any practice of law so that there could be no possible intimation that I was using my position on the Democratic National committee in connection with any law cases I might have been handling.”

Payor Talks of Dinner
The Post-Dispatch gave this account of the loan, which it said had been denied three times before by the RFC:

“On Sept. 26, Boyle, Finnegan and R. J. Blauner, vice-president and manager of the American Lithoform, attended a testimonial dinner for Boyle in Kansas City where Boyle long had been active in Democratic politics, xxx.”

“Four days after the Kansas City testimonial dinner, the RFC board approved a $465,000 loan to American Lithoform on recommendation of J. F. Williams, RFC examiner in Washington, although the RFC board of review rejected the application.”

The RFC directors followed Williams' recommendation.

“Examiner Williams on Nov. 10, 1949, recommended that the loan be increased by $100,000 to include an $80,000 loan granted March 3, 1949. This brought the total to $565,000.”

Says Payments Ceased
The Post-Dispatch said payments to Boyle and Finnegan stopped after two agents of the intelligence unit of the internal revenue bureau called Finnegan here May 4, 1950, and told him they had been assigned to investigate the affairs of his office.

The newspaper went on to say that next day a special meeting of the corporation's directors was called to “unscramble” its records on payments to Finnegan.

As a result, the Post-Dispatch alleged, stock in the company, with a par value of $12,000, which had been issued to Finnegan and his wife—was canceled and reassigned to persons in the company.

The newspaper added that the stock had been on deposit with a financial institution here as security for a $12,000 loan to Finnegan and that the printing firm made monthly payments of $1,000 toward retirement of the loan.

Senator Williams, (R-De), recently called the attempt to “unscramble” the company records a move by the company to “disassociate themselves from the question of payment of money.”

Williams, a member of a subcommittee of the Senate committee on finance, charged on the Senate floor last May 7 that the Justice Department had covered up the matter.

The GAO acknowledged in its report that the overall program was huge and that neither states nor the VA had adequate personnel to keep careful check on the varied phases.

To Outnumber Russian Troops

BONN, Germany, July 25—(P)—Allied armies in Germany will outnumber Russian troops now in the east zone by nearly 200,000 men by the end of this year, an informed allied source said here today.

The planned allied build-up will put nearly 500,000 men in Germany compared with estimates on Russian strength of about 300,000, the source said.

The allied plan provides for the equivalent of 18 divisions and a “considerably increased” British-American air force.

Opposing allied and Russian forces in Germany are now about equal, the source added.

Intelligence reports show no indication of a Russian build-up at present. Nor is there any indication that one is coming.

United States divisions are to be increased from the present four to six, which with air force reinforcements, will make about 210,000 men.

Tap Treasury In Training
Trade And Other Schools Received Over Payments

WASHINGTON, July 25—(P)—A large number of trade schools, colleges and universities seized upon the multi-billion dollar GI education program to tap the treasury for over-payments, the general accounting office says.

The office's report, based on a special 11-month survey of the program, was made public yesterday by Rep. Teague (D-Texas), chairman of a House subcommittee studying the system.

The report said investigators found over-payments of one kind or another at two-thirds of the schools examined.

The report was issued on the eve of expiration today of the big GI education and training program for most of the veterans of World War II.

The cut-off of benefits applies to veterans generally who are not currently in the program, except for those discharged after July 25, 1947. The latter have four years from the date of discharge in which to start GI bill training.

The veterans administration estimates that about 7,600,000 of the 15,200,000 World War II veterans have benefited from the program at some time during the seven years and one month the program has been operating.

Abuses Cited
The general accounting office's report cited instances to show the program was sloppily administered and shot through with overpayments and “questionable practices” on the part of institutions, private industry, farmers and veterans.

In the on-the-farm program, abuses cited included that of a veteran, graduate of an agricultural college, who enrolled as a “student” in the same high school in which he had taught agriculture. His training cost the government $3,000.

The report said more than 500,000 veterans started farming courses and that it is conservatively estimated that 100,000 have dropped out at a waste of more than $100,000,000 in treasury money.

Charles Echert, legislative attorney in the comptroller general's office, said at a committee hearing yesterday that about $3,000,000 in overpayments have been recaptured in the whole program.

The report said some colleges raised their tuition 300 per cent or more. One college jumped its non-resident rate from $25 to $100 a quarter for veteran students. It was not named.

Instances were found where payment was required for books and supplies furnished veterans but not asked of non-veterans. Charges were made for expensive textbooks to a farmer trainee who couldn't read.

The GAO acknowledged in its report that the overall program was huge and that neither states nor the VA had adequate personnel to keep careful check on the varied phases.

Flood Greatest in Water Volume
KANSAS CITY, July 25—(P)—The size of the 1951 flood on the Missouri river was the greatest in terms of volume of water in recorded history.

This came from Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of the army engineers, in a talk before the Missouri basin states flood meeting.

He gave these figures on the discharge of the river at Kansas City: 1943, 147,000 cubic feet a second; 1903, 260,000; 1844, 360,000 and 1951, 500,000.

While the Missouri at Kansas City carried more water in 1951 than it did in 1844, it did not reach the stage of the flood 107 years earlier.

New Type For A Laying House

Those of you interested in being really in the business of producing eggs and plan on building a new laying house may want to investigate the newest type of house now blue printed by the University of Missouri. This house is 30 feet deep and can be built to any length desired, with a partition every 40 feet. This makes a 30 by 40 pen in which you can house up to 350 heavy breed layers or 400 to 450 leghorns. This house is also of the open front, straw loft type, and is easy to add on to.

Another house plan which the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service has in blue print form is an even span gable roof house 48 feet inside. This house has a rather low pitch to the roof... about 4 feet of rise to 24 feet of run. A built up type roof is used, and insulation board is nailed to the lower sides of the rafters to provide a more comfortable house for the hens, both winter and summer. Exhaust fans are used with this house.

As with the other house mentioned the 48 foot house can be built to any length. Probably the shortest should be 60 to 70 feet, and it can be extended. This wide house, built 60 to 70 feet long, will very easily accommodate 1000 layers. Those having the 24 by 32 foot house and who wish to enlarge the block can do so by adding on the east or west end.

Studies in Missouri by extension poultrymen of the university and in other states show that 300 to 400 layers is the minimum size house for a high labor income. By having modern buildings, equipment and methods, this size flock can be cared for about as easily as one of 75 to 100 hens. Automatic waterers, feed rooms and the like are a must in a good poultry house. Also the flock of 300 to 400 hens gives you enough volume of production to do something in the way of a marketing program to further increase your returns from poultry.

Through the Extension office at 118½ West 3rd Street you can secure blue prints of these houses.

How to Increase Litter of Pigs

Why does the average sow raise only six pigs per litter? One reason is that the bred sows and gilts do not get the attention they need from breeding to farrowing.

Some suggestions on how to increase the number are given here by the Extension Agent based on suggestions of E. S. Matteson, extension livestock specialist of the University of Missouri.

Provide good pastures for the sows and gilts. There is no practical substitute for green growing feed, generally in the summer this will be a legume. These may be ladino clover, alfalfa, red clover and lespedeza, pastured or clipped. Early spring-seeded rape and sudan can be used.

With excellent pasture, sows won't need other protein feed until 30 or 40 days before farrowing, when 1½ pound per day of a good 40% protein feed should be supplied. If the bred gilts lack in size it would be a good idea to furnish them some additional protein throughout the season, with an increased amount during the last 30 - 40 days.

Mature sows in good condition when the pigs are weaned need only about 2 to 4 ears of corn per day. If they are thin increase this amount. Bred gilts need more than sows. Hence you can't do well by feeding sows and gilts together as the sows get too much and the gilts not enough.

All the mineral needed in salt and ground limestone, available to the sows and gilts, kept dry.

Water and shade are a necessity. Use an automatic waterer. Provide shade even if you have to put up a temporary shelter. If small buildings are the best you can provide arrange them to allow for air circulation by raising off the ground or providing additional openings besides the door.

If the breeding herd is handled in this way, you will have an excellent start towards raising eight or more pigs from the fall litter.

Good Crops Need To Meet Demand

There is no thought of allocating fertilizer at this time, Robert W. Rissler, chairman of the County Agricultural Mobilization committee, told farmers today; however each farmer should estimate the amount of fertilizer needed this year and make his purchases in the very near future.

During peak buying periods of September and March fertilizer dealers do not have adequate supplies of fertilizer to fill farmers' orders, and even though fertilizer is not allocated farmers will not always be able to purchase the amount or analysis fertilizer required for their needs. This situation could be greatly improved, Rissler said, if farmers would purchase their fertilizer during other months of the year when warehouses and transportation facilities are not operating at peak capacity.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture are aware of the fact that it will take good crops this year and in the future to meet current flood and fiber demands. With crop acreage now close to the maximum, one of the major factors in obtaining increased production would be adequate supplies of fertilizer.

Reports indicate, Rissler pointed out, that 500,000 tons of nitrogen, or 40 per cent more than present capacity, is needed in the immediate future. Because of food demands resulting from population

Reports Given to Homemakers

Mrs. Everett Wing was hostess to the La Monte Homemakers club at her home Friday, July 20. The president, Mrs. Arthur Perkins, opened the meeting by reading "The Kindly Neighbor." Fifteen members answered roll call. Visitors were: Mrs. Lowell Reavis, Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Paul Sparks. Misses Watkins and Leonard of Sedalia were also guests.

The vice president, Mrs. C. E. Carroll, gave a report on the increases, an additional 100,000 tons will be needed during each ensuing year. It is not expected at the present time, however, that farmers will face any widespread shortages of fertilizer if they purchase their supply early and store it on their own farms, thus assuring adequate space for additional supplies in commercial warehouses.

The club gave Mrs. Bert Wimmer a handkerchief shower as she and her husband were leaving Saturday for California to reside. Mrs. Edmond Gregory and the following 4-H club members gave a program: Rita Pearl Jackson, Larry Hudson, Jesse Lindaman, Insaw Wade, Virginia Kindel, Junior Kindel and Maxine Moore.

The Extension club will entertain the Stokley club, August 17 at the Knob Noster state park. The game and song leader, Mrs. Brown, was in charge of the social program.

Newcomers' Club To Have Outing

The Welcome Wagon Newcomers' club will have a breakfast Sunday morning at the Catholic Community Center with all cars to meet at 16th and Ingram at 8 o'clock.

Each member will bring their own breakfast for cooking in the open.

Any member not being contacted may call 3089 or 4457.

Parties

Mrs. Emma Gumm of Cole Camp was honored on her 89th birthday anniversary with a party given by her grandson, Doyle Ross Mabry.

Flowers, the gift of friends, decorated the home. An arrangement of flowers centered the dining room table and on either side were lighted tapers.

Games were played and music was furnished by Kay Mabry and Norman Imbush.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, and daughters, Emma Marie and Evay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanrahan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koeller, William M. Young of Sedalia; Mrs. H. G. Fajen and daughter, Mrs. Edna K. Hilton, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Anna Junge, Mrs. Lena Imbush and son Norman, John Chemlir, and Miss Mary Chemlir.

Women of the Moose Meet

The Women of the Moose, No. 1242, met Tuesday night at the Moose hall with the senior regent, Mrs. E. W. Brown presiding.

Twenty-two members were present.

It was officers chapter night and two new members were initiated.

Mrs. Earl Burnett, who recently visited Mooseheart, talked on her visit there.

During a social hour refreshments were served.

The executive board will meet with the committee chairman on August 14 at 7 p. m. prior to the regular meeting.

Observe Birthdays At Park Picnic

Members of the Beeler and Williams families held a picnic on Sunday, July 22 at Liberty park. The gathering was in honor of seven birthdays occurring in July and August and for two who leave on July 27 for National Guard summer camp at Camp Ripley, Minn., and one member of the family who is home on furlough from the Marine Corps.

The honorees were: George Beeler, Miss Mary Jane Williams, Miss Velva Jean Nold, Mrs. A. C. Nold, Mrs. Alva Rasa, Sr., Lavern Stetzenbach, all of Sedalia; J. Allen Beeler of Marshall and Cpl. Arthur Beeler of Cherry Point, N. C.

Others attending were: Mrs. George Beeler, A. C. Nold, Mr. and Mrs. George Nold, Mrs. Francis Nold, Leon Nold, Earl Nold, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stetzenbach, Charles Stetzenbach, Allen Lee Stetzenbach, Miss Estelle Mae Stetzenbach, Miss Junie Stetzenbach.

Car, Titles And Keys Were Stolen

Thieves made a "double-steal" early today at the Pat Hunt Used Car lot, 606 West Main. They stole the titles and car keys to 14 cars on the lot, and then took away a 1938 Chevrolet coach.

Entrance to the small office was gained by prying open a window.

The license plate 813-356 was reported as stolen from the car of Fred Wehmeier, 820 West 20th, sometimes Tuesday night or early this morning.

Police believe the two thefts may be connected, the used car being stolen and the license plate taken to be used on the automobile.

Bishop Calls For Truce in His Oration At Petain Funeral

of World War I bore Petain's coffin.

Inside the church 25 candles in silver holders shed a soft glow over the casket in which lay the hero of Verdun.

Cap and Medal Near Body

On a silken cushion near the coffin rested the old warrior's military cap and the military medal—France's highest decoration—which was near him when the end came. But there was no marshal's baton. That was taken from Petain during the postwar trial when he was sentenced to death on charges of betraying his country. Gen. Charles De Gaulle later commuted the sentence to imprisonment and Petain spent all but the last month of his life in an old fortress on this tiny island.

Madame Petain entered the church veiled in black. Leaning heavily on a wooden cane, she was assisted by her nieces and a daughter-in-law.

The requiem mass began—celebrated by Dean Padevin, vicar general of Paris—the bells of Notre Dame tolled slowly.

Among more than 500 telegrams received by Madame Petain was one from Gilbert Renault-Roulier, famed during the Nazi occupation as Colonel Remy. He was one of the leaders of the resistance who formed fighting units of Frenchmen to oppose the Germans while they were in the France ruled by Petain.

"Permit me to express very respectfully," his cable said, "the deep sorrow I share with you and which has at the same time struck the hearts of so many Frenchmen."

Throughout France there has been considerable agitation about where to bury Petain. For a long time to come there may be discussions as to whether he should have been granted his wish to be buried among the soldier heroes who fell in defense of Verdun.

The government ordered him buried in a plot near the church on this rocky island where he served out his sentence.

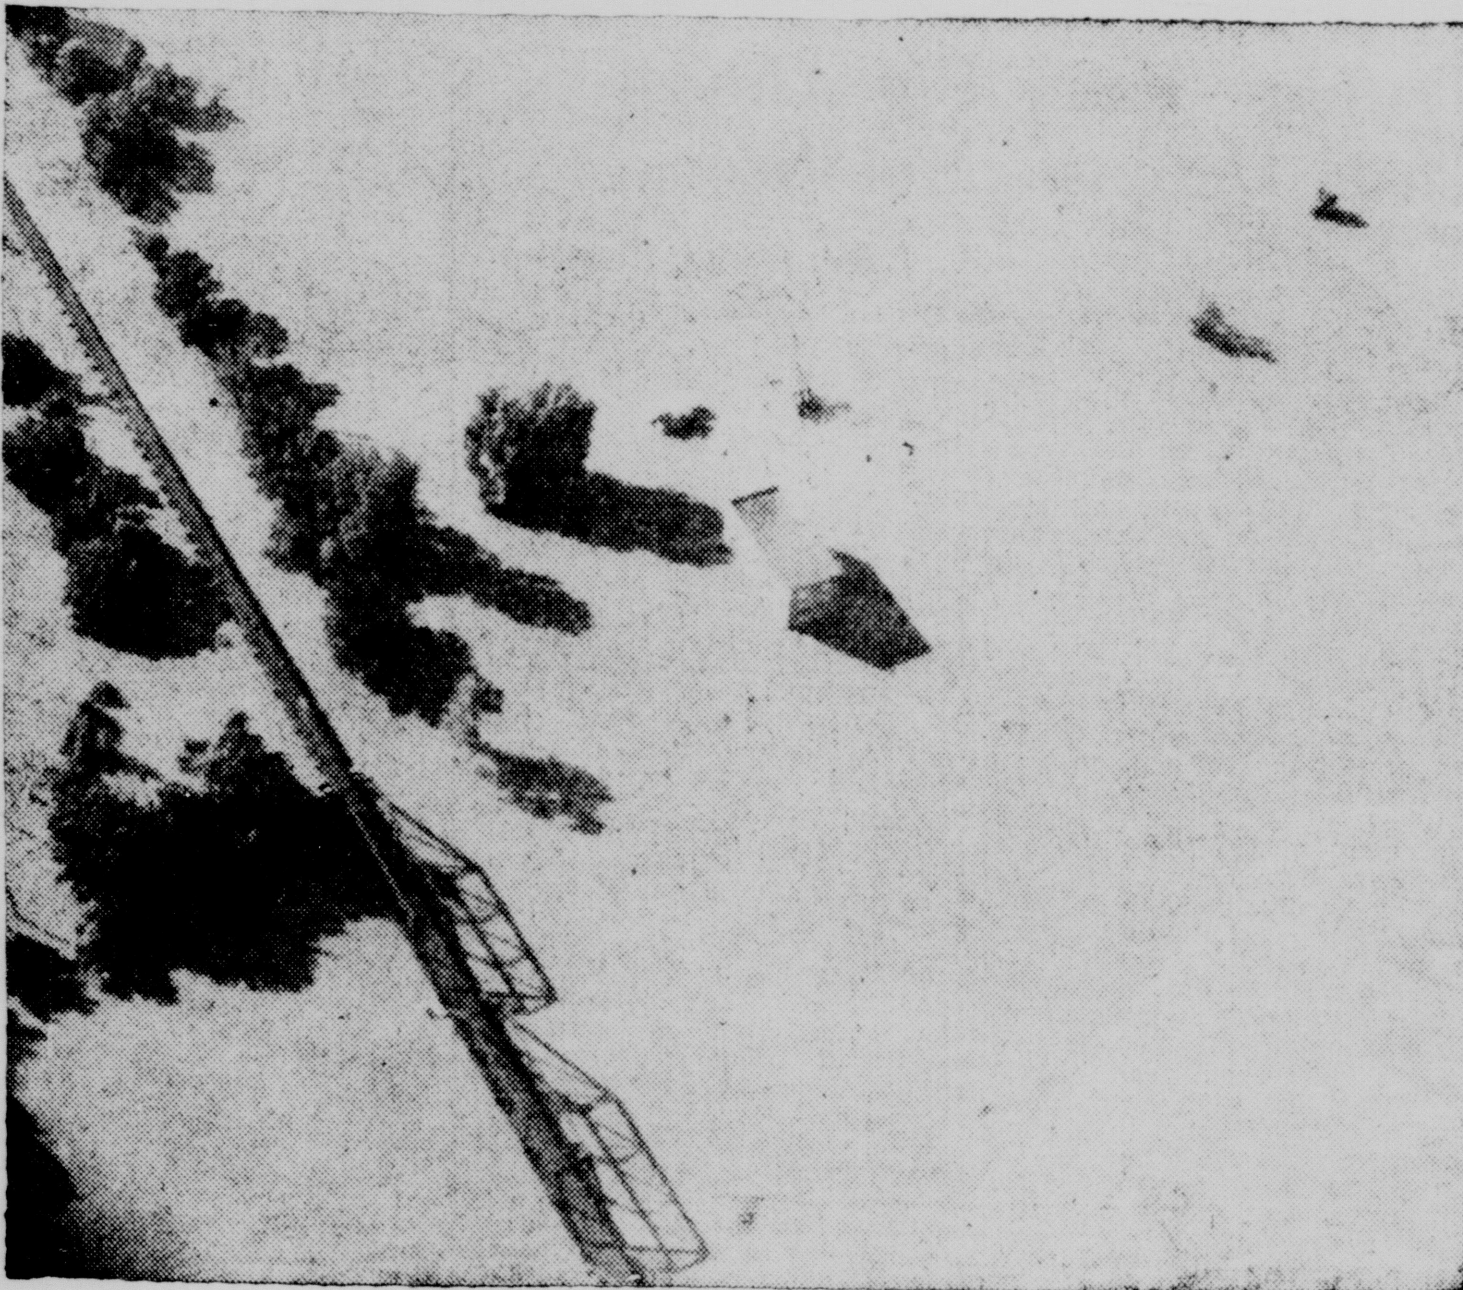

After considerable negotiations with the government, Petain's lawyers finally got authorities to agree that the simple tombstone over the old warrior's grave should bear the words: "Marshall of France." Previously it had been intended that the stone should bear only the Verdun hero's name.

The lawyers also gained a point in getting the Marshall of France title included on the death certificate in place of the originally proposed term "without profession."

Is Swindled by Gypsy 'Princess'

NEW YORK, July 25—(P)—A gypsy "princess" was accused today of swindling a Brooklyn mother of her $7,011 life savings with weird incantations on the pretext of bringing her dead soldier son home alive.

Police identified the gypsy as Mrs. Hazel Lee, 35, of Coney Island, and charged her with grand larceny.

They said Mrs. Virginia Solomon of Brooklyn told this story: The Defense department notified her in January that her son, Arnold, had been killed in action in Korea. She refused to believe it.

The gypsy accosted her from a phrenologist's booth at Coney Island last May 13—Mother's Day. The mother told her troubles. The gypsy suggested that her money was a curse—that if the curse were removed the son might return.

As a test, a few days later, the mother placed $900 in a heap of sweepings surrounded by candles and watched for the appearance of a snake that would prove the money cursed.

A snake—a realistic mechanical one—appeared, police said. The distraught mother yielded the $900.

She surrendered the last of her "bad" money after another visit when a hen, which police said was smothered under the gypsy's arm, somehow was regarded as proof her son was alive.

A package of her son's personal belongings arrived at Mrs. Solomon's home last week. Her hope finally died. So did her gullibility. She notified the Brooklyn district attorney's office.

Contract Repairs On Highway 71

JEFFERSON CITY, July 25—(P)—More than $3,000,000 worth of repairs and improvements on U. S. Route 71 in western Missouri have been contracted for, the state highway department said today.

Work will be done in seven of the 13 counties where the highway is located. Contracts call for work on 47.4 miles—one-seventh of the total 333-mile length of the major north-south traffic artery.

Since January, 1946, an additional 30.5 miles of the highway has been improved at a cost of $3,203,939. Present contracts will bring the five-year total to 77.9 miles, almost a fourth of the total mileage in Missouri.

Rex M. Whitton, the new chief engineer, said the ever increasing traffic burden on 71—in number of vehicles, weight and speed—is largely responsible for the high maintenance and renovation costs. Another factor is that most of the pavement is about 25 years old.

Renovation of another 6.6 miles already is being planned, he said.

'Black Ink--What's That?'

THE GILA MURDER

BY JULIUS LONG
COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Laura Colton, civic and social leader of Coltonville and the wealthiest woman in town, dies from a heart attack after being bitten by a strange, terrifying lizard which was in the glove compartment of her car. Sam Colton, the widower, who has not held a job since he married Laura, is being summoned. Also surviving are a son, Lawrence, and a pretty daughter, Patricia (Pat).

CHIEF MITCHELL

summoned Paul Baker, the county prosecutor, and Dr. Creviston who was to perform the autopsy. Sam Colton, who had been called by Dr. McCracken, was the first to arrive. He had been home alone and had come in a hurry in the station wagon. His daughter Pat had driven off in her yellow convertible and his son Lawrence departed in his two-door sedan.

"This will be a terrible shock to the children," said Sam, enunciated and balding. "I must find them as soon as I can."

Dr. Creviston, the family doctor by Laura's choice, arrived and told Sam, "Just leave everything to me. I'll see that Laura is taken care of. What a dreadful thing! To be frightened to death by that monstrosity, whatever it is!"

"Eh?" Sam Colton looked bewildered and then seemed for the first time to realize that the lizard that had bitten his wife was an object of curiosity and conjecture.

"Don't you know what that is?" he asked innocently, his expression indicating that it was absurd for any normal person not to be able to identify the thing.

Chief Mitchell, Bob Crawford and Paul Baker eyed him expectantly, and Sam Colton decided to tease them a little.

"Why, it's a heloderma suspectum."

When this failed to register, he went on: "You know its common name, Gila Monster. Maybe the pronunciation 'Hee-lah' throws you—you've probably heard them called 'Ghi-lah', the way the word is Anglicized—just like people call the Apache renegade Geronimo with a hard G, instead of 'Heroni-mo.' The Gila Monster is the only poisonous lizard in the hemisphere, along with its near-relative the heloderma horridum of Mexico."

"Then whoever put it there must have counted on it poisoning Laura!" the coroner exclaimed.

Sam stared a moment, then said, "Oh, yes. Somebody had to put it into the glove box, didn't he? But whoever it was must have counted on her heart condition killing her. A Gila Monster's poison doesn't usually kill a healthy grown human if treatment is prompt," Sam paused. "Most people survive the Gila bite, you know. Fact is, I did myself."

SAM looked around for dramatic effect, and he got it. For the first time in 20 years, citizens of Coltonville were regarding him with something approaching respect.

"Good grief!" said the police chief. "How'd it happen?"

Sam shrugged in the manner one uses to indicate that a wound is only a scratch.

"Oh, I asked for it. The Gila is a peaceful little beggar and won't bother people unless they're looking for trouble. I used to catch them and keep them just for the heck of it, and one day I spotted one waddling alone out in the desert near Ajo. By the way you spell that A-J-O, and pronounce it 'Ah-ho'. Well, the little devil spotted me at the same time and took off into some cactus. When I foolishly reached around for it, it nipped a couple of fingers. It must have opened its jaws again for a better bite, because I got loose. It bit to the bone, but I didn't feel any poison go to me. I didn't feel any symptoms."

"What are the symptoms?" asked Dr. Creviston.

"Same as rattlesnake venom."

First, speeding up of the heart action and breathing. Then a gradual paralysis of the heart and breathing muscles. But not enough normally to kill healthy grown people. The fact is that unless the Gila has a chance to grind its teeth into the flesh, no real supply of venom is loosed into the bloodstream. The treatment's the same as for a rattlesnake bite. Not liquor, of course."

"Well," said Dr. Creviston, "Laura must have absorbed a lot of poison, enough at least to make her heart fail."

Sam Colton eyed the physician as if he thought he was a lunatic.

"Why, you know better than that, Doc! The poison couldn't have acted that quickly. It was shock that caused Laura's heart to fail."

Dr. Creviston resented this criticism. "Did you say you'd collected these monstrosities? Do you have a collection of them now—alive?"

"What?" Again Sam Colton looked at Dr. Creviston as if he thought he were less than bright. "Here in Coltonville? Good heavens, no! Why in the world should I keep a collection here?"

"I just wondered if you had one," Creviston said thoughtfully.

DR. McCracken seemed to enjoy Sam Colton's treatment of the family physician, but he had been eying Sam with increasing suspicion. "I've traveled in Arizona myself," he said. "I was told that Gila Monsters have no poison sacs or venom at all—that nobody knows why they're poisonous."

Sam eyed the coroner as if he were a trifle bawdy. "What bartender told you that, Doc?"

Dr. McCracken straightened indignantly, but he also blushed.

"Why—er—as a matter of fact it did happen to be a bartender. But he'd hunted Gila Monsters. He was keeping one at the time and showed it to me. It had an awful smell. He said that was because of its poison."

Sam Colton chuckled. "Well, Doc, you've fallen for one of the most firmly believed Southwestern superstitions. They just naturally smell bad."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Faux Pas Almost Costs Defense Mobilizer

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 25 — For about two days last week, President Truman was on the verge of losing his defense mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, who, whether you like him or not, has done a masterful job of speeding up production.

The crisis over Wilson came about as result of the Kansas-Missouri flood, and an amazing boner pulled by the White House.

What happened was that Wilson had urged the President to survey the flood area; then, on the insistence of Mr. Truman, Wilson also went along. The defense mobilizer argued that he was busy in Washington with 101 different things, but finally acceded to the President's wishes.

On the trip, the President made several statements to Kansas and Missouri crowds that he was giving his chief mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, the man who knew more about production than anyone else in the USA, the job of getting the flood areas back on their feet. And on the plane en route to Washington, the President also emphasized to Wilson that he was to be entrusted with this important extra work.

One thing that impressed both Wilson and the President on the trip was the effect of the flood on national defense. For instance, the new channel which the flood cut through the Kansas City freight yards caught 5,000 box cars, 5,000 of them loaded. Likewise, Kansas City's cattle pens, where a large segment of the nation's cattle go to market, had been washed away. So the President, talking to Wilson on the plane, told him to shoot the works.

Truman Goes to Bed

Then, being a little tired from the long day and having enjoyed Kansas City's traditional liquid hospitality due no doubt to the water shortage — the President went forward in the plane and went to bed.

Wilson, however, sat up until 1:30, when the plane landed, going over flood rehabilitation plans with his chief assistant, Alfred Howes, whose home is in Wichita, Kas., and who is thoroughly familiar with that area.

Next morning, following out his presidential instruction, Wilson called a meeting of all cooperating mobilization agencies. He called it for 9 a. m., despite the fact that he hadn't landed until 1:30 and had to scramble for a car at the airport, while Gen. Lewis Pick and the top brass went off in limousines.

At the 9 a. m. meeting, Wilson explained the seriousness of the flood problem, said that the President had placed him in charge and started a three-hour survey of what the federal government could do. One by one he went round the table, assigning each man a part of the job, discussing priorities for lumber, steel, railroads, how sufficient tractors, combines and farm machinery could replace those lost in the flood without disturbing the defense effort. Wilson even went into the fact that farm machinery must be produced not piecemeal, but on an assembly-line basis, in order to save time and effort.

One Absentee

However, there was one empty seat at the long table of about 300 government officials. This was the chair of Raymond Foley, in charge of defense housing.

About noon, Mr. Foley came in, his hair slightly awry, obviously rushed.

"Excuse my lateness," he explained, "but I was called to the White House and detained there."

"That's all right," said Wilson, "we'll call on you next."

Then Foley, not knowing what the meeting had been discussing, proceeded to announce that the President had called him in to give him the job of rehabilitating the flood-stricken areas.

Complete silence fell on the room. Wilson turned white, looked down at his papers, pretended to shuffle them.

Still not sensing what had happened, Foley proceeded to outline his own plans for the flooded areas and to say that he would call on this man and that for help.

The silence continued. Wilson did not say a word. Finally, as Foley concluded, he announced: "The meeting is adjourned."

Wilson still did not challenge Foley, even after the meeting broke up, but his assistant, Howes, did. He pulled Foley aside, told him what had happened. Foley looked just as surprised as Wilson.

He had been away on a two-week vacation, was suddenly called to the White House and placed in charge of flood rehabilitation. That was all he knew. Apparently the President had forgotten his conversation with Wilson the night before. He only remembered that a month before he had put Foley in charge of disaster relief.

While Foley and Howes were talking, Director of the Budget Frederick Lawton telephoned. He had been at the meeting, was flabbergasted at what had happened and wanted to see Wilson to straighten things out.

At first Wilson, furious, would not see him. For two days he refused — two days during which Lawton and Howes finally got things straightened out. They drafted a letter which the President signed, directing Wilson to take over all flood problems on a national scale and asking him to work with Foley on matters pertaining to the local and municipal level.

Foley, incidentally, went out of his way to cooperate, and, in the end, so did Wilson.

The story is stranger than fiction. But Washington is a strange place, and in this case, like fiction, things have now been patched up and subordinates are working well together on flood rehabilitation.

Japanese May Face Troubles

By Spencer Moosa

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 25—(AP)—A U. S. publisher here on a fact finding world tour said Tuesday Japan faces serious financial troubles after the signing of a peace treaty unless the U. S. helps her out.

He is Donald W. Reynolds of Fort Smith, Ark., head of the Southwest Publishing Co., which operates six newspapers and six radio stations in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nevada and Kansas.

In an interview after a visit to Japan, he said:

"It is more than likely Japan will have serious difficulties before the end of the year unless we maintain financial aid on the road cars, how sufficient tractors, combines and farm machinery could replace those lost in the flood without disturbing the defense effort. Wilson even went into the fact that farm machinery must be produced not piecemeal, but on an assembly-line basis, in order to save time and effort."

The 44-year-old publisher who served in the Pacific in World War II added: "I feel Japan is the key to the Orient."

"If we lose the Japanese people, we will have to write off all the Orient."

"If we maintain their friendship, we will at least have a checkmate position in Asia."

Reynolds has traveled widely in Europe but is on his first tour of the Orient.

He said that two visits to Kaesong, site of the Korean war cease-fire talks, gave him the impression "that the Chinese Reds are more interested in halting the fight than are the North Koreans."

"The North Koreans have now taken second place to the Chinese in the talks."

Reynolds said he came to Formosa with no preconceived notion other than "We need allies where ever we can get them."

Just "Can't Get Over" Easy's Fence

Few years ago, Easy Roberts took a lot of kidding when he planted that hedge of Multiflora roses — along his property line. Folks said he was getting pretty high-falutin'.

But today plenty of people who laughed at the idea slow down when they drive by Easy's place — just to look at those roses. Most beautiful sight you ever saw.

Practical, too! The hedge is a good four foot high now, and at least five foot thick—even a snout couldn't get through that prickly mass of shrubbery. Best of all, it cost less than ordinary fencing. (Might be well worth your while looking into.)

From where I sit, there's no sense in looking down on something just because it's different from what we like. For instance, some people think ice-cold lemonade's the best "cooler-offer" on a hot day. Some of us would rather have a glass of beer. The important thing is not to "hedge ourselves in" against other people's ideas and preferences.

IRAN: Cockpit for Conquest (6)

Under Reza Khan, who became Shah Reza Pahlavi in 1925, the veil over Persian civilization was literally raised. Fierce tribesmen were disarmed, communications progress effected and industrialization encouraged. By 1933, the Shah had managed to nullify his country's 60-year oil agreement with Great Britain and win higher royalties. A third country now entered the struggle for the economic control of Iran; the intruder was Nazi Germany.

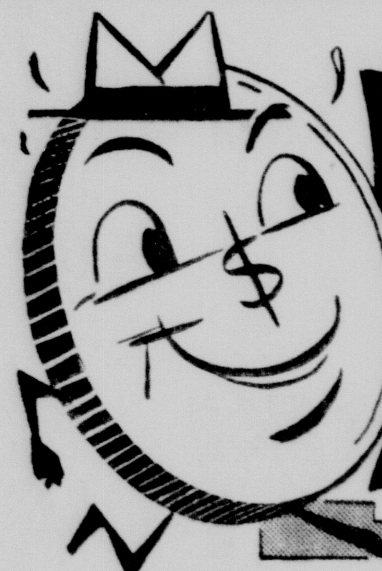

So strong was Germany's foothold in Iran that both Great Britain and the U. S. S. R. occupied the country during World War II. At the 1942 Teheran Conference, however, Shah Muhammad Riza, who succeeded his father in 1939, received the assurance of President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill that his country's independence would be respected. In 1943, Persia declared war on the Axis powers.

Today the once-mighty conqueror of the Middle East is making another bid for world eminence through nationalization of her billion-dollar oil industry. As a result of unsatisfactory royalty negotiations, she has ousted British oil technicians, though lacking talent of her own. An 800-mile frontier with Russia and a 2000-year history that has revealed every seeming path to glory to be a road to ruin causes the world to wonder what Fate will next decree for tiny Iran.

Gives Method To Restore Soil Fertility

Is of Essential Importance For Crop Production

Soil fertility is of great importance in the production of corn, wheat, oats, barley legumes and grasses as well as vegetable crops. Continued removal of mineral has decreased the original low level of some minerals.

How to restore and improve fertility is the title of the following as given by the County Extension Agent, Roy Copen.

Plant roots come in contact with only a small per cent of the soil and mineral plant foods, such as phosphate, potash and lime don't move much through the soil. So you need to build up the levels high enough so that the roots can get all the plant food they need at any time.

A desirable phosphate level is about 200 pounds for the top seven inches of soil over an acre area. Many soils have only 20 to 30 pounds or less. This means, to be certain that the operator has ample phosphate, he needs to apply 170 to 180 pounds of P205 per acre.

You can use either raw rock phosphate or any of the processed forms of phosphate such as 0-20-0 or 0-45-0 or in a mixed fertilizer such as 8-45-8. You can bring this phosphate level up in different ways. You can bring the level up about half way by using a processed form of phosphate. Some of this in most cases should be under and some used when the crop is seeded. If you use raw rock phosphate, put on enough of it to supply the needs for 8 to 10 years. Raw rock should be used for crops to be on the land for several years such as alfalfa and permanent pastures.

The only way to find out how much phosphate your soil needs is to have your soil tested. If your phosphate level on one field is 100 pounds you don't need to apply nearly as much as on another field where the phosphate level is 20 pounds.

Vary as to Potash
Soils in Pettis county says the county agent, vary greatly in the potash level. A desirable potash level is 200 pounds for all crops but alfalfa for which it is 300 pounds. Some tests made in the county show as low as 50 to 60 pounds. Trying to grow alfalfa and clovers on such soil without adding liberal supplies of potash results in failure. Even less potash consuming plants such as corn, small grains and grasses will not perform well on this low potash soil without adding extra potash—even providing the phosphate level is 200 pounds and the calcium is high. This again shows the need for and value of soil tests.

Potash is lower where the entire crops have been removed as is done where hay is cut or corn is put in a silo.

You must have plenty of nitrogen too. But nitrogen is a kind of fertilizer that has to be put on each year or it will move through the soil and get away. In the soil tests to determine the nitrogen needed, the stable organic matter is determined. This indicates how much nitrogen will be released—the exact amount depending upon a number of things such as rainfall and cultivation.

While there will be a lot of fertilizer on the market this summer and fall the demand is high and likely increase—especially for high analysis goods such as 8-24-8 or 4-24-12 with carrying twice as much plant food per ton as 4-12-4 or 2-12-6.

Get your soil samples taken now and brought into the soil testing laboratory at 118½ West 3rd to determine your fertility level and get prepared to grow higher yields of crops.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. ## Bufs Are Ever Ready to Rush To a Blaze

By Paul C. Ditzel
CHICAGO, (AP)—Give me a smoky basement fire to tangle with and you can keep your baseball games and television.

I'll never hope for a fire, but when the engines dash by you can bet your boots I'll grab mine and take off for the blaze, pulling on my firecoat and hat.

I'm a fire buff. I like to go to fires and grab a hose line and follow firemen into a "ripe" working fire.

Any buff worth his boots will bolt from bed on a wintry morning to take in an extra alarm blaze.

Bufs got their name from the horse-drawn steamer days when fire engine chasers huddled in buffalo robes at fires in sub-zero temperatures. We also are known as "fire fans," "sparks," and "red hots."

Many of us frustrated firemen have fire alarm registers or radios next to our beds. We keep our boots and coats nearby.

Like any buff whose eyes glisten as the sirens set up a crescendo of wails I take plenty of abuse from smoke and heckling friends.

Why do I chase fire engines? I don't know. Can you explain why you memorize batting averages?

Best answer a fire buff gives to the raised eyebrow is, "show me a guy who doesn't like to watch a fire or the drama of a 100-foot aerial ladder truck threading through traffic where friendly firemen always welcome another hand."

Bufs in many cities have formed clubs complete with fire museums and stations where they keep siren and bell-equipped trucks ready to roll on all second alarms to serve coffee to tired firemen.

Next time the fire equipment clangs by, look closely. The fellow clinging to the hook and ladder may be your local banker, a prominent lawyer or the corner grocer—all good buffs and good firemen, too.

The waker alarm bell orders you out of bed and into your boots.

Grab for the pole and slide down. Squirm into your coat and reach for the back rail of the rig.

Swing aboard as the 1,000 gallon pumper eases itself out of the station. You're on your way to another blaze.

I've gone to at least 200 fires since I became a buff. Some were minor, others were tragic.

I've choked on smoke at tenement house fires and waded through water at a four-alarm blaze in Chicago's stockyards. I've seen fires in New York, Buffalo, Washington, D. C., and Toronto, Ont.

When I visited Europe last summer I took in fires in London, Paris, Stockholm, and Copenhagen with foreign fire chiefs.

One Christmas I helped carry the body of a priest from a blazing rectory at a two-alarm fire in Buffalo. Last winter I watched helplessly with my fireman pals while eight persons dropped into the flames during a five-alarm fire in a Chicago hotel.

10 good reasons for using Colorado Hog Cholera Vaccine:

1. Cannot give a pig cholera, and will build a strong dependable immunity to Hog Cholera.
2. No stunting, no serious virus reactions, no need to change feeding program.
3. Eliminates live virus being brought to non-infected farms.
4. Will not aggravate hidden or masked secondary infections. Herds showing symptoms other than Hog Cholera may be safely vaccinated.
5. Developed by the Federal Government and produced by Colorado Serum Co., under strict Governmental supervision.
6. Same dose of 5cc's regardless of size.
7. Use only one syringe. No dosage charts.
8. Duration of immunity lasts one year or longer.
9. Appeals to the swine owner who wishes to avoid cholera losses and prefers not to take the risk of using live virus.
10. No periods of lowered resistance permitting entrance of other swine diseases.

10. Readily available at your own particular convenience.

It's Barnyard gossip....
by A. B. Warren
SWINE ERYSIPELAS
(Diamond Skin Disease)

In the past few years Swine Erysipelas has become important, second only to Hog Cholera in many sections of the U.S. among swine diseases.
It may occur as a chronic disease or in the acute form. It is often hard to differentiate from other hog diseases. It is infectious yet not highly contagious. Often times it effects only a part of the herd. The field diagnosis should be made by a competent veterinarian.
TREATMENT: Until recently this disease was treated by use of the Anti-Swine Erysipelas Serum. It has been found that penicillin is more effective than any of the sulfas or this serum. The recommended dosage is from 1,500 to 2,500 units per pound of body weight over a period of 24 hours in a single or divided dose according to the type product used.
PREVENTION AND CONTROL: Prevention consists of early diagnosis and treatment and isolation of infected animals. The causative organisms live for many years and double treatment should be avoided because of contaminating the premises with live virus.
Now to summarize all of this if you have reason to believe that you have Erysipelas among your herd you should immediately isolate those affected and treat at once with penicillin as above recommended. The average cost for a 100 pound hog would be about 35¢.

Playoff For Junior Legion And Blues

Last Game For Post Before Trip To Tournament

Tonight at 8:15 will see the play off between the Post 16 Junior Legion team and the Teen-Age Blues. Each team has won two games and this will be the rubber game. It will be at 8:15 at Liberty park diamond. This also will be the last game for the Post 16 team before the zone tournament in Hannibal July 27-28-29. The Post 16 team will leave Thursday from Smith Cotton high school for Hannibal. The Post 16 team boast a record of 19 wins and three losses. The Blues winning two games and the Moose club the third game. The Teen-Age Blues have a record of 11 wins and four losses. The first game between the Blues and Post 16 saw the Legion team winning 9 to 6. The Blues came back in the second game to win 5 to 1. The third game was won by the Post 16 team 13 to 2. The Blues winning the fourth game 5 to 1. Jim Fall won both games against the Blues and C. A. Smith won the two games for the Blues.

The Lineups
Manager Slocum announced that C. A. Smith and Eldon Lees would form his battery for tonight's game. Manager Barr of the Legion will use "Skip" Schulz with Larry Mines receiving. The Blues lineup will be D. Higgins first base, Fisher center field, Watson shortstop, J. Walter right field, W. Walter left field, Lees catch, Wall third base, Hickman second base, Smith pitcher. The Post 16 lineup will be Floyd Burton first base, Carl Miller or Elroy Burton second base, Lane shortstop, Thomas third base, Dey left field, Bennett center field, Bartlett right field, Mines catch and Schulz pitcher.

A good crowd is expected to see this rubber game and the final game for the Post 16 team before leaving for the tournament. The Post 16 team is sponsored by the American Legion Post 16 and the W. A. Smith Motor Company. The team is managed by Cliff Barr and coached by George Ray.

• Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, July 25—(P)—When Jim Leonard quit as Villanova's football coach, Athletic Director Bill Connelly figured he'd better look for a man with a lot of courage to replace him. . . . A glance at the football schedule shows why: Army, Penn State, Alabama, Kentucky, Houston, Detroit, Boston College, Louisiana State and Tulsa—all but one away from home. . . . In backfield coach Art Raimo, Bill found the lad with the necessary courage and a touch of optimism besides. . . . Says Art: "We're going to have a good team if our sophomores come through; one that could beat any team on the schedule, but not all of them. . . . I had a letter the other day from one of our co-captains, Nick Liotta, and he was talking about the great opportunity this schedule offers. He thinks we have the kind of players who can win." . . . Raimo can quote a number of figures about 240-pound tackles to back up his enthusiasm, but don't forget this is July. . . . After those first four games, he'll probably be a member in good standing of the weepers union.

Sports Before Your Eyes
One inducement offered to get caddies for the USGA Junior Golf championship at the U. of Illinois course this week was a free ticket to the Illinois-UCLA football game in addition to the regular caddy fee. . . . Since he fractured his skull a year ago, Washington's Gil Coan has raised his batting average some 80 points. But it isn't to be recommended as a cure for hitting slumps. . . . When Joey Bettencourt, the U. of Connecticut's flashy halfback, was in prep school at Admiral Billard Academy in 1948, he made 27 touchdown runs of 35 yards or more and nine of them were called back for various rules infractions. . . . Sounds as if the Admiral had been torpedoed. . . . ## Cardinals in a Home Stand

Musial on a Batting Spree in Game Tuesday

By the Associated Press

There's no place like home as far as the St. Louis Cardinals are concerned. After losing six of their last seven games on the road, the Cards opened a long home stand with a 9-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies last night at Sportsman's park. The Redbirds slashed out against five Phillie pitchers with a 14-hit attack. Stan (The Man) Musial, as usual, led the way at the plate, driving out a double, triple and a home run in four times at bat. He scored three runs and drove in two more. Harry Brecheen was the winning pitcher, while Russ Meyer, first in the parade of Phil pitchers, was charged with the loss. Meyer also entered into a fourth-inning controversy with Cardinal catcher Del Rice, but no blows were struck although players from both benches sprang out on the field. Tonight the Cards probably will work behind Max Lanier (5-7), while the Phillies' probable strater is Robin Roberts (12-8). The St. Louis Browns were idle again yesterday, but get back into the swing of things tonight at Shibe park against the Philadelphia Athletics. Stepping with their best foot forward, the Browns will start Sam Zoldak (3-4) on the mound. A Brownie newcomer will be in the lineup tonight as rookie Ben Taylor takes his place at first base. Taylor was obtained by the Browns yesterday from Fort Worth of the Texas league.

Dodgers Add To Lead in The National

Cardinals Trim Philadelphia by A 9-5 Score

By Ralph Roden Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, so-so performers on the road, once again are strutting like peacocks before the home folks. Both the Yanks and Red Sox, virtually tied for the lead, emerged with flying colors in the first brush with the contending Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox in the nip and tuck American league pennant race yesterday. The Yanks, topping the Red Sox by three percentage points, opened a 19-game home stand by turning back the Indians, 3-2. The loss dumped the Indians out of a second place tie with the Red Sox into third, one game behind the Yanks. Boston launched a 21-game home stand by thrashing the slipping Chicago White Sox, 8-3. The defeat dropped the fourth place White Sox 3½ games back of New York. In the remaining American league game the Detroit Tigers picked the Washington Senators, 2-1. Brooklyn, meanwhile, staged 3½ games in front of the National league. The Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, in ten innings. The runner-up New York Giants edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, in ten innings while the Boston Braves downed the Cincinnati Reds, 6-1, and the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5. That old Yankee formula, airtight pitching and clutch hitting, brought the bombers their fifth straight victory and their 23rd in 37 games at the stadium. Vic Raschi pitched a eight-hitter to post his 14th victory for the Yankees. Gene Woodling and Johnny Mize smashed home runs off Early Wynn to account for all of the Yanks' scoring. Leo Kiely, rookie leftlander up from Louisville, restricted the sagging White Sox to four hits as he turned in his second victory without a loss for the Red Sox. Kiely blanked Chicago until the eighth inning when Don Lenhardt followed two walks with his tenth home run of the season. The Red Sox, who now have won 31 and dropped ten at Fenway park, salted the game away in the first inning when they scored five runs against Howie Judson and Harry Dorish on three hits and five bases on balls. Ted Williams pounded out his 19th homer in the second and Kiely singled with the bases loaded in the seventh to drive home Boston's final two runs.

Two Eagles Made on No. 6 At Elm Hills

Scotch Foursome to Be Played Sunday; Drawings Saturday

A Scotch Foursome is to be played at the Elm Hills Golf course Sunday, July 29. Drawing for partners starts at 5:00 p. m. Saturday and the closing time of the drawing will be at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Players who plan to play in the tournament are requested to register at the club house before 5 p. m. Saturday.

The last Scotch-Foursome played was very successful and some interesting contests resulted from the tournament.

Progress is being made in the Ladder tournament, many of the Elm Hills players have turned in their scores and others who have been holding back are requested to post their scores as soon as possible so match play can get underway.

Eagles on No. 6

Hole No. 6 fell victim of two players, who shot eagles. Lloyd Parker of 1000 Crescent Drive, made his on Sunday and Dick Rench, Kansas City, who made his on Tuesday. No 6 is a par 5 and the two players, with ease, made it in 3 strokes.

These are the first eagles reported on this hole in several seasons.

The hole is 450-yards and runs south, has a ditch to cross before going up a hill to the green and is on a slight dog-leg.

Playing with Rench were Walt Hampson, Rex Preston, manager of the course and Armin Eno.

Five Hole-Outs Made

Parker had something to talk about when he completed the round of nine holes, his total score ended up in his office telephone number — 37. What made the round with Parker interesting was the fact there were five hole outs on the round.

Parker on his eagle had to chip the ball onto the green on the third stroke and it rolled into the cup. Four other players also chipped their balls onto the green to see it roll into the cup. They were Bernard Stanfield, Morris Griffin, Ted Maloney and Walt Hampson. The sixth player in the group was Kenneth "Boggy" Stanfield.

Ready to Talk Fight for Champ

CAMDEN, N. J., July 25—(P)—

Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott has a radio engagement in New York City today, but his manager is going along to "talk fight" with International Boxing club officials. Felix Bocchicchio, the manager, said "we're not going to be in a hurry" to decide the time, place and opponent for Walcott's first title defense — but that doesn't mean he won't talk about it. Bocchicchio said he and Jersey Joe will have a few words, social and business, with Jim Norris, IBC president.

"I'll seriously up to Norris whether Joe fights Charles or Joe Louis—who's been asking for the fight," Bocchicchio said. But the manager said emphatically he'd have something to say

VFW To Hold Jalopy Races Here Sunday

To Quiz More in Cage Scandal

Jalopy racing, one of the most entertaining and exciting sports to come to this part of the state in some time will make its first appearance in Sedalia Sunday afternoon.

Many Sedalians who saw the races when they were being held at Syracuse will probably agree that the races give a thrill or spill-a-minute. The cars, mostly old models, are "souped-up" and will seat until they knock out with mechanical trouble, which is not out of the ordinary.

To Run On Figure 8 Track

The races in Sedalia will be held on the figure 8 track, being built at 28th and Ingard, 13 miles south of the light-plant on highway 50. The cars cross at the 8 and often smash-up at speeds of 30 or 40 miles per hour.

The local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2508 is sponsoring the races. The time trials are set to start at 1:30 p. m. with the consolation race and the feature race starting immediately afterwards.

Form Racing Association

The VFW has aided in the forming of a Central Missouri Racing Association, which is working to bring racing entertainment to Sedalia in the way of hot rods, jalopies, and motorcycles.

The races are promoted by Glen Jones, who has relinquished his proprietorship of other races in Central Missouri. According to Jones, 60 per-cent of the gate is being offered for prize money after federal and state taxes are deducted.

Start An Accident Fund

Entry fees and Association fees will go into a fund to be used for doctor or hospital benefits in case a driver is injured in one of the races.

The Howard Construction Company is building the track, and according to Jones, the track will be much faster than most jalopy tracks since the curves and bumps are being eliminated.

about where the next fight will be held, and he added he definitely is against any city in New York state.

Bocchicchio said he prefers Philadelphia or Garden Race Park, outside Camden.

Lefty Fall Holds The Visitors to But Five Hits

The Post 16 Junior Legion, sponsored by the W. A. Smith Motor Company pounced out a 12 to 3 victory over the Lebanon Legion team played at Liberty park Tuesday night. Lefty "Jim" Fall was on the mound for Sedalia and allowed 5 hits and 5 bases on balls. Lebanon drew first blood by scoring 2 runs in the second. Sedalia came back in the third when E. Burton grounded to second. Fall singled and stole second. Lane walked, Fall went next school under suspicion. "Just let us say that our investigation of the New York scandal led one team of investigators to this public eye within a day or two."

Meanwhile, five members of Bradley university basketball team were in technical custody for accepting bribes from gamblers.

Doctors Find Best Return Not In City

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Physicians in civilian practice in the United States had an average net income of $11,058 before taxes in 1949.

And physicians in medium size communities fared better financially than their colleagues in the big cities.

These were among the findings reported today from a nationwide survey conducted jointly by the Department of Commerce and the American Medical Association.

Dr. Frank G. Dickinson, director of the AMA's Medical Economic Research Bureau, said in a statement in Chicago that the survey was "the best and broadest mail questionnaire income survey ever taken of any profession."

55,000 Gave Replies
Questionnaires were sent to 125,000 physicians across the nation, with 55,000 replies received.

The survey showed that neurological surgeons led the field for highest earnings with an average net income of $28,628. They were followed by pathologists with $22,284, and gynecologists with $19,283.

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics said the findings represent the most detailed and accurate information on physicians, and teachers.

Physicians in private practice averaged $11,058; salaried physicians, $8,272. About four out of five received most of their income from private practice. Only one out of five was salaried.

About 13 per cent of those in private practice had net income of less than $3,000. Only 9 per cent of the salaried physicians made so little.

On the other extreme, about 8 per cent of those in private practice reported earning more than $25,000. Only one per cent of the salaried physicians made that much.

The report noted that in the 20-year period since 1929, physicians' incomes have more than doubled. This was in line with the increased income for all wage earners, it said.

Forced to Second Floor by Flood

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Terrell, 2009 East 10th received a letter from their daughter, Mrs. Holmes Lane, Iola, Kas., telling of the flood in Iola caused from the Neosho river. Water covered 40 per cent of the residential district and was six feet deep in the yard of the Lane home and 19 inches deep in their house.

The entire family, Mr. and Mrs. Lane and children, Jimmy and Judy, lived on the second floor of the house using only candles for light and a blow torch to make coffee for several hours.

The river was only one block from the main district south and three blocks west. Only one-way traffic was allowed on the city streets and that was for Iola residents only.

The Lanes have an electrical appliance store in Iola and Mr. Lane is also an operator of a Fox theatre there.

During the Sedalia flood Judy Lane was in Sedalia visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell and Mrs. A. L. Lane, 1201 South Stewart.

Revival at Ionia Baptist Church

The Ionia Baptist church will begin a series of revival meetings in what it terms "A Crusade for Christ" on Sunday morning, July 29. Services will be held each night through the week ending Sunday night, August 5.

The Rev. H. L. Alley, evangelist, will do the preaching with Miss Elinor Jewell as soloist. On the programs will be two male quartettes from Sedalia.

Election Night

Cliff Thompson (left) of Kansas City, Mo., elected president and Donald Alan Johnston of Pittsburgh, Kas., elected vice-president of the American Legion-sponsored Boys' Nation after the group held their elections July 23 at American university in Washington. Later this week the two officers will meet President Truman at the White House. (AP WIREPHOTO)

US Church Membership Rises To History's Highest Point

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—American church membership in 1950 rose to 85,705,280—an unparalleled 55.9 per cent of the population, an annual survey showed.

The new figure represents a membership gain of 2,950,987.

The report, compiled by the Christian Herald magazine which makes the only comprehensive, regular survey of church membership in the United States, disclosed these counts for the major faiths:

Protestant membership increased 1,409,045 to 50,083,696, or 2.89 per cent over the previous year. Roman Catholics gained 859,784 to bring their total to 28,470,092, up 3.1 per cent.

Jewish congregations, minus any new statistics, stayed at 5,000,000.

"The major faiths," the report said, "continue in about the same proportion to each other."

"Protestants are still well in the lead, with 58.5 per cent of all church members. Roman Catholics claim 33.2 per cent of the total, while Jewish congregations account for 5.8 per cent."

Other groups make up the remaining 2.5 per cent. Altogether, memberships of the various faiths climbed 3.56 per cent last year, while population grew only 1.67 per cent—thus putting church membership at an all-time record of 55.9 per cent of the nation.

At present, 44.1 per cent do not belong to any church. Fifty years ago, 65.3 per cent were in this category.

The 1950 overall increase in membership of 2,950,987 compares with lesser gains of 2,426,725 in 1949, and 2,190,264 in 1948. However, the report said of the 1950 gains:

"There was no spectacular turning to religion, no spiritual upheaval. Religion fought for every foot of gain; there were no easy, sweeping advances. But there was a continuation of even growth."

More Congregations Formed
Besides membership gains, 3,214 new congregations were formed last year, raising the total to 278,479.

"Biggest membership gains by any single protestant denomination was by the Southern Baptist, which added 318,624 members."

With 7,079,389 members, the Southern Baptist now is the "fastest growing denomination in the United States," the report said, and within 10 years, "may well be our largest."

The Methodist church, still the largest protestant denomination, had the second highest membership gain, adding 143,078; to bring its total to 8,935,647.

The survey, which covered 221 protestant and 32 non-protestant religious bodies, noted that 13 of the top protestant bodies have 76 per cent of the total membership, and that 38 have 95 per cent of the membership.

Although the larger churches accounted for a "lion's share" of the numerical increase, the report said, the small churches grew faster percentage-wise — indicating they "were doing the best job of evangelism."

Government Has Too Many Desks

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—The government has about 11,000 extra desks on its hands here. Warehouses are jammed with them.

"But we're not worried about it at all," says William A. Miller, regional director of the general services administration (GSA). The GSA is the buyer for most government agencies.

He told a reporter Tuesday he expects ordinary demand to take up the supply within three to five months.

He attributed the overstocking to a variety of reasons. Mainly, he said, it sprang from urgent demands by defense agencies after the Korean war broke out. Orders were placed in anticipation of a big jump in employment. Then Congressional cutbacks, "freeze" on government employment and heavy filling of back orders by furniture companies caused the pileup, Miller said.

Visited at Syracuse
Mrs. J. D. Watring and children, Martha and Wayne of "Kob Noster," and Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Petree and children of Wicoma, Kas., were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Petree of Syracuse over the week-end.

Temperance Talks by Fields

LOS ANGELES, July 25—(AP)—A witness who said the late W. C. Fields used to give temperance lectures under the name of Billy Williams Tuesday accented the claim of a Chicago woman to the late comic's $771,428 estate.

Mrs. Edith Williams, 71, claims she and Fields were married in New York June 24, 1893, when she was 13 years old. Her petition asserts that she acted as his assistant in vaudeville and bore him seven children before he deserted her in Chicago in 1910.

She claims a widow's share of the estate. Her claim is opposed by Mrs. Harriet V. Fields, the comic's legally recognized widow who married him in San Francisco in 1900.

At the hearing yesterday, Fred J. Ardath, one time vaudeville troupier, said he first met Fields in 1896 or 1897 and that he was using the name of Billy Williams and Billy Ward. He said Fields, later to become a celebrated tipper, used to give temperance lectures when theater jobs were scarce. With a dramatic gesture from the witness stand, Ardath pointed out the now-blind Mrs. Williams as his wife in those early days. "Did he ever talk about his children?" he was asked.

"He would say, 'I've got 'em in every city,'" Ardath replied. "But I don't know to this day whether he was clowning or not." Fields died Christmas day, 1946. Railroads belonging to the Confederate States at the close of the Civil War amounted to 11,600 miles of line. Use Democrat-Capital class ads.
